PAYING ROAD TAXES COUNTY

OVER 300 SUBJECT TO WORK HAVE MADE SETTLEMENT WITH THE TRUSTEE.

Taxpayers of the county subject to road duty, have commenced to pay their commutation taxes and the trustee has collected already a little over $900 from this source, or nearly one-third of the total collections for 1915. Since the road law placed the commutation value of a day's work at 60 cents, an increasingly large number have been paying instead of working out the time on the roads. Both the road laborers and the roads are the beneficiaries of the change. Very little work on the roads has been done yet or will be done until after the first of next month so that payment will not, until that time, be very large.

Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill., writes: "I was stricken with lumbago, unable to turn in bed. A neighbor brought Foley Kidney Pills. She had been similarly afflicted and they cured her. I was cured by three bottles." If the kidneys do not function, lumbago, rheumatism, aches, pains, are apt to result.—SMISER DRUG CO.—(Adv.)

NO VESTIGE LEFT OF ONCE FAMOUS ATHENAEUM SCHOOL

TEARING DOWN OF OLD STUDY HALL MARKS PASSING OF ONCE FAMOUS INSTITUTION.

LARGEST IN THE WHOLE SOUTH

In Heyday Of Its Glory Special Trains Run From Texas to Bring Pupils to Academy—Rectory, Occupied by F. G. Smith, is all That Remains.

The tearing down of the last building of the Columbia Athenaeum to provide brick for the construction of the addition to the College Hill negro school marks the passing into oblivion of one of the greatest girls' colleges that has ever flourished in the south. In the heyday of its glory this school was known all over the country, pupils from many states being in attendance. From two to three hundred girls were enrolled and gave life and color to the spot now occupied by the new City High School. Special trains were run from Texas to Columbia to bring the girls from that far-away state to the far-famed institution.

The school was founded by F. G. Smith, the grandfather of the present bearer of that name. Mr. Smith was connected with the institute and completed in 1833 his residence next to the institute, which has ever since been known as the Rectory. This building had been begun by a Mr. Walker, but it was completed by Mr. Smith. In 1852 Mr. Smith severed his connection with the institute and determined to found a girls' school near his residence. Thus the Columbia Athenaeum came into existence in 1852, at which time the Study Hall was completed. This building was the first to be finished and the last to be torn down.

In 1858 the growth of the school necessitated the erection of another building and Davis Hall, the dormitory, arose. It was torn down only a few years ago and the bricks were used in the construction of the Orphans' Home. Soon another building was erected just south of the location of the present high school. The Rhonda and the Pervellon, two octagonal structures, were next put up. Sleepy Hollow was built as the connecting structure between Study Hall and Davis Hall. The gymnasium building was located just south of the Study Hall.

Before the war the school was already flourishing as an academy for young ladies. In 1866, Mr. Smith died, but the school was continued by his wife, with her son, Robert D. Smith, as manager. At this time the school was one of the best known in the country, and was the largest educational institution for young ladies in the entire South. In 1871 Smith Brothers, as executors, in the effort to pay off the debts that had accumulated during the war, took charge of the institution. Robert D., Frank H., and Dr. W. A. Smith labored long and earnestly to raise the necessary money. In 1886 all the debts of the institution were paid off, and Robert D. Smith bought out his brothers and ran the school until 1900, when the property was leased to the city and became the largest city school. In 1902 the property was sold to the city; thus bringing to an end the actual existence of the school.

Since coming into possession of the property the city has constantly improved it, and today a vestige of the once famous institution remains. The Rectory, which was never a part of the school proper, is all that stands. It is occupied by the only one left of the line of the school owners, Frank Gillette Smith. The same old furniture, the same old pictures are yet in the residence, which is known as the oldest and most picturesque in the city.

A GOOD THING FOR CHILDREN

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort.—SMISER DRUG CO.—(Adv.)

GREAT HEAT CLAIMS FIRST MAURY COUNTY VICTIM IN YEARS

F. D. CAMPBELL IS STRICKEN WHILE PLOWING IN GARDEN IN WEST END.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

Drew Last Breath in Sister's Arms—Efforts to Revive of No Avail—Sixty-seven Years of Age and Member of Methodist Church.

While plowing in the garden back of his residence on West Ninth street Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, F. D. Campbell, 67 years old, was overcome by the sun and heat and died before medical attention could be summoned; Mr. Campbell is the first man to die of heat prostration in Maury county in many years. His sister, Mrs. T. J. Tucker, was nearby and when she saw her brother fall, she rushed to his side; he drew his last breath in her arms. Medical attention was immediately summoned, but efforts to revive Mr. Campbell were in vain.

Mr. Campbell was born in Maury county in December, 1849, and had lived in this county all his life. He was a devoted and conscientious member of the First Methodist church of this city, his whole life being marked by noble religious works.

Mr. Campbell is survived by one sister, Mrs. T. J. Tucker; two sons, A. E. Campbell, of Buffalo, New York, and J. B. Campbell, of Columbia; three daughters, Mrs. Kelley Massey and Miss Tessie Campbell, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. W. L. Cooper, of this city.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the residence in West End at four o'clock, conducted by Dr. W. T. Boaz and Dr. A. G. Dinwiddie. The following have been requested to act as pall-bearers: George E. McKennon, B. D. Joyce, H. H. Catina, M. L. Stokes, M. H. Bunch and John Speed. Interment will take place in Rose Hill cemetery in the family square. Maury Undertaking Co. in charge.

DO NOT SOW HARD RED CLOVER SEED

BEWARE OF HARD SEED COATS THAT ARE NOT CAPABLE OF ABSORPTION.

By C. E. ALLRED, Division of Extension, University of Tennessee.

Some legume seeds, especially red clover, alsike clover, sweet clover, Japan clover, vetch and alfalfa, are so impervious to water that they will not quickly sprout from under ideal conditions of germination. Germination tests of commercial sweet clover seeds frequently show that 60% or more of the seeds remain hard and will not sprout during the usual number of days allowed for a germination test. This is due to the hard seed coats which are not capable of absorbing water.

It is apparent, therefore, that the percentage of hard seed is of considerable importance in actual farm practice. Usually a farmer does not plan and cannot afford to wait several months after sowing for the last seed to sprout. It is essential, therefore, that he use good clean seed that will sprout quickly.

BETTER CORN SHOW HELD IN COLUMBIA NINTH OF OCTOBER

PROMINENT FARMERS FROM ALL OVER COUNTRY TO BE INVITED TO ATTEND.

VROOMAN MAY COME DOWN

Assistant Secretary Of Agriculture Uses Maury Phosphate Rock—Frank I Mann of Illinois, Perhaps Greatest Farmer in America, May be Here.

Efforts are being made by citizens of the city and county to arrange a Better Corn Show to take place in Columbia on October 9. Many prominent farmers from other states will be invited to attend, and letters have already been written to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Vrooman, extending to him an invitation to be present at the new birth of the corn-raising industry in Maury county. Frank I. Mann, of Illinois, known to many as the most successful farmer in America, will be asked to attend.

The exhibit will follow along general lines the Better Baby Show, which was held in connection with the Sociological congress. Those in charge expect great benefits to be derived by the farmers of this county, as at the show they will hear the opinions of experts on the raising of corn.

Mr. Vrooman uses on his own farm the raw ground phosphate rock, for which this county is so famous, and has repeatedly expressed himself as being an enthusiast for this material as a fertilizer. The Corn Exhibit committee believes that Mr. Vrooman can be secured for the show. The following letter has been written to him:

"August 18, 1916.
"Hon. Carl Vrooman, Asst. Sec'y. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"Dear Mr. Vrooman:
"For the following reasons I am moved to write you. First. We want you to visit us and address our farmers at the Better Corn Show Exhibit on October 9th. at Columbia, Tenn. Second. We want you to see our Maury county phosphate deposits, in

GETS JUDGMENT AGAINST L. & N.

JAKE RASKIN'S GOODS WERE BURNED IN SPRING HILL STATION FIRE.

In the magistrate's court this morning before Squire Alexander, Jake Raskin, of Spring Hill, obtained judgment of $161.39 from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. G. T. Hughes, Jr., attorney for the railroad company, gave notice of a nappeal to the circuit court.

The proof in the case showed that Mr. Raskin had in the station at Spring Hill on Nov. 21, 1915, goods to the value of $161.39. Mr. Raskin on the morning of that day called up the station agent and asked if he could obtain the goods. His request was refused since the day was Sunday. On that afternoon the station burned, and Mr. Raskin's goods were consumed. He prayed that he be reimbursed for his loss.

One way to relieve habitual constipation is to take regularly a mild laxative. Doan's Regulets are recommended for this purpose. 25c a box at all drug stores.—(Adv.)
